

Subject: How to set up an at-home Skype studio
From: DMG Team <info@districtmediagroup.com>
Date: 3/25/2020, 19:59
To: Rick <rickbulow1974@gmail.com>

---

Skype Studio Setup

With most TV interviews being done via Skype to protect against the spread of coronavirus, here's how we recommend you set up an at-home studio to guarantee the best lighting, audio, and background.

- For the best lighting: sit so the light (natural or in-door) is shining towards your face and not the back of your head.
- For the best angle: place your computer on a table or stack of books on a table so the camera is eye level.
- For the best background: make sure the objects behind you are appropriate and well placed. A bookshelf is always a good option.
- For the best audio: use AirPods. Producers are requesting that guests use AirPods because they eliminate feedback and guarantee the best audio quality.

Interested in DMG's services? Contact us! We'd love to work with you.

---

How to set up an at-home Skype studio

611 Pennsylvania Ave SE, #106
Washington, D.C. 20003

Update preferences | Unsubscribe from list