The screenshot shows the YouTube interface for a user named Danielle Almario. At the top left is the YouTube logo with 'PH' next to it. A search bar is in the center, and an 'Upload' button is on the right. The user's email 'danielle@jomarhilario.com' and a notification bell with '4' are also visible. Below the navigation bar are four tabs: 'Favorites' (0), 'Watch Later' (1), 'Likes' (1), and 'History' (3). A red arrow points to the 'History' tab. To the right of the tabs are two menu sections: 'YouTube' with links for 'My channel', 'Video Manager', 'Subscriptions', and 'YouTube settings'; and 'Google account' with links for 'Profile', 'Google+', 'Privacy', 'Settings', 'Sign out', and 'Switch account'.

A screenshot of a user interface for selecting a photo. The interface is enclosed in a dashed border. At the top, it says "Drag a photo here" in a light gray font. Below that, it says "Or, if you prefer..." in a smaller gray font. A blue button with white text "Select a photo from your computer" is centered. A large, hand-drawn red arrow points from the bottom-left towards this button. In the bottom-right corner of the dashed area, there is gray text: "Recommended channel art size: 2560 x 1440" and "Max file size: 2 MB". At the bottom of the interface, there are three elements: a blue "Select" button, a gray "Cancel" button, and a blue link "How to create channel art".
