THE FIRST OF ITS KIND

A spectacular blend of Superstars, athletes and celebrities, WrestleMania I featured Muhammad Ali, Mr. T, Billy Martin, Cyndi Lauper, Lissandra and the Rockettes.

ONE GIANT EVENT

The incomparable Andre the Giant won a $15,000 Backlash Challenge, then tossed some of the money into the crowd!

WRESTLEMANIA

THE SHOWCASE OF THE IMMORTALS

In a match officiated by the legendary Muhammad Ali, Hulk Hogan and Mr. T were victorious in the 1st-Team main event.

TRIPLE THREAT

The only WrestleMania broadcast on a Monday. WrestleMania II was held in three states: New York, Illinois and California. Each arena had its own undercard and main event.

WRESTLEMANIA

FROM SEA TO SHINING SEA

Ray Charles' stirring rendition of "America the Beautiful" led off the star-studded, coast-to-coast event that also featured Goy Dosbeams, Tiana, and Juan Rivera.

I PITY THE FOOL!

Mr. T was quipped by losing legend Joe Frazier's son and all against "Rowdy" Roddy Piper in a boxing match.

RAGE IN THE CAGE

Hulk Hogan defeated King Kong Bundy in the only Steel Cage Match in WrestleMania history.

WWE VS. NFL

NFL players — including William "The Refrigerator" Perry — competed in a 20-minute battle royal eventually won by Andre the Giant.

WRESTLEMANIA III

THE MAIN EVENT

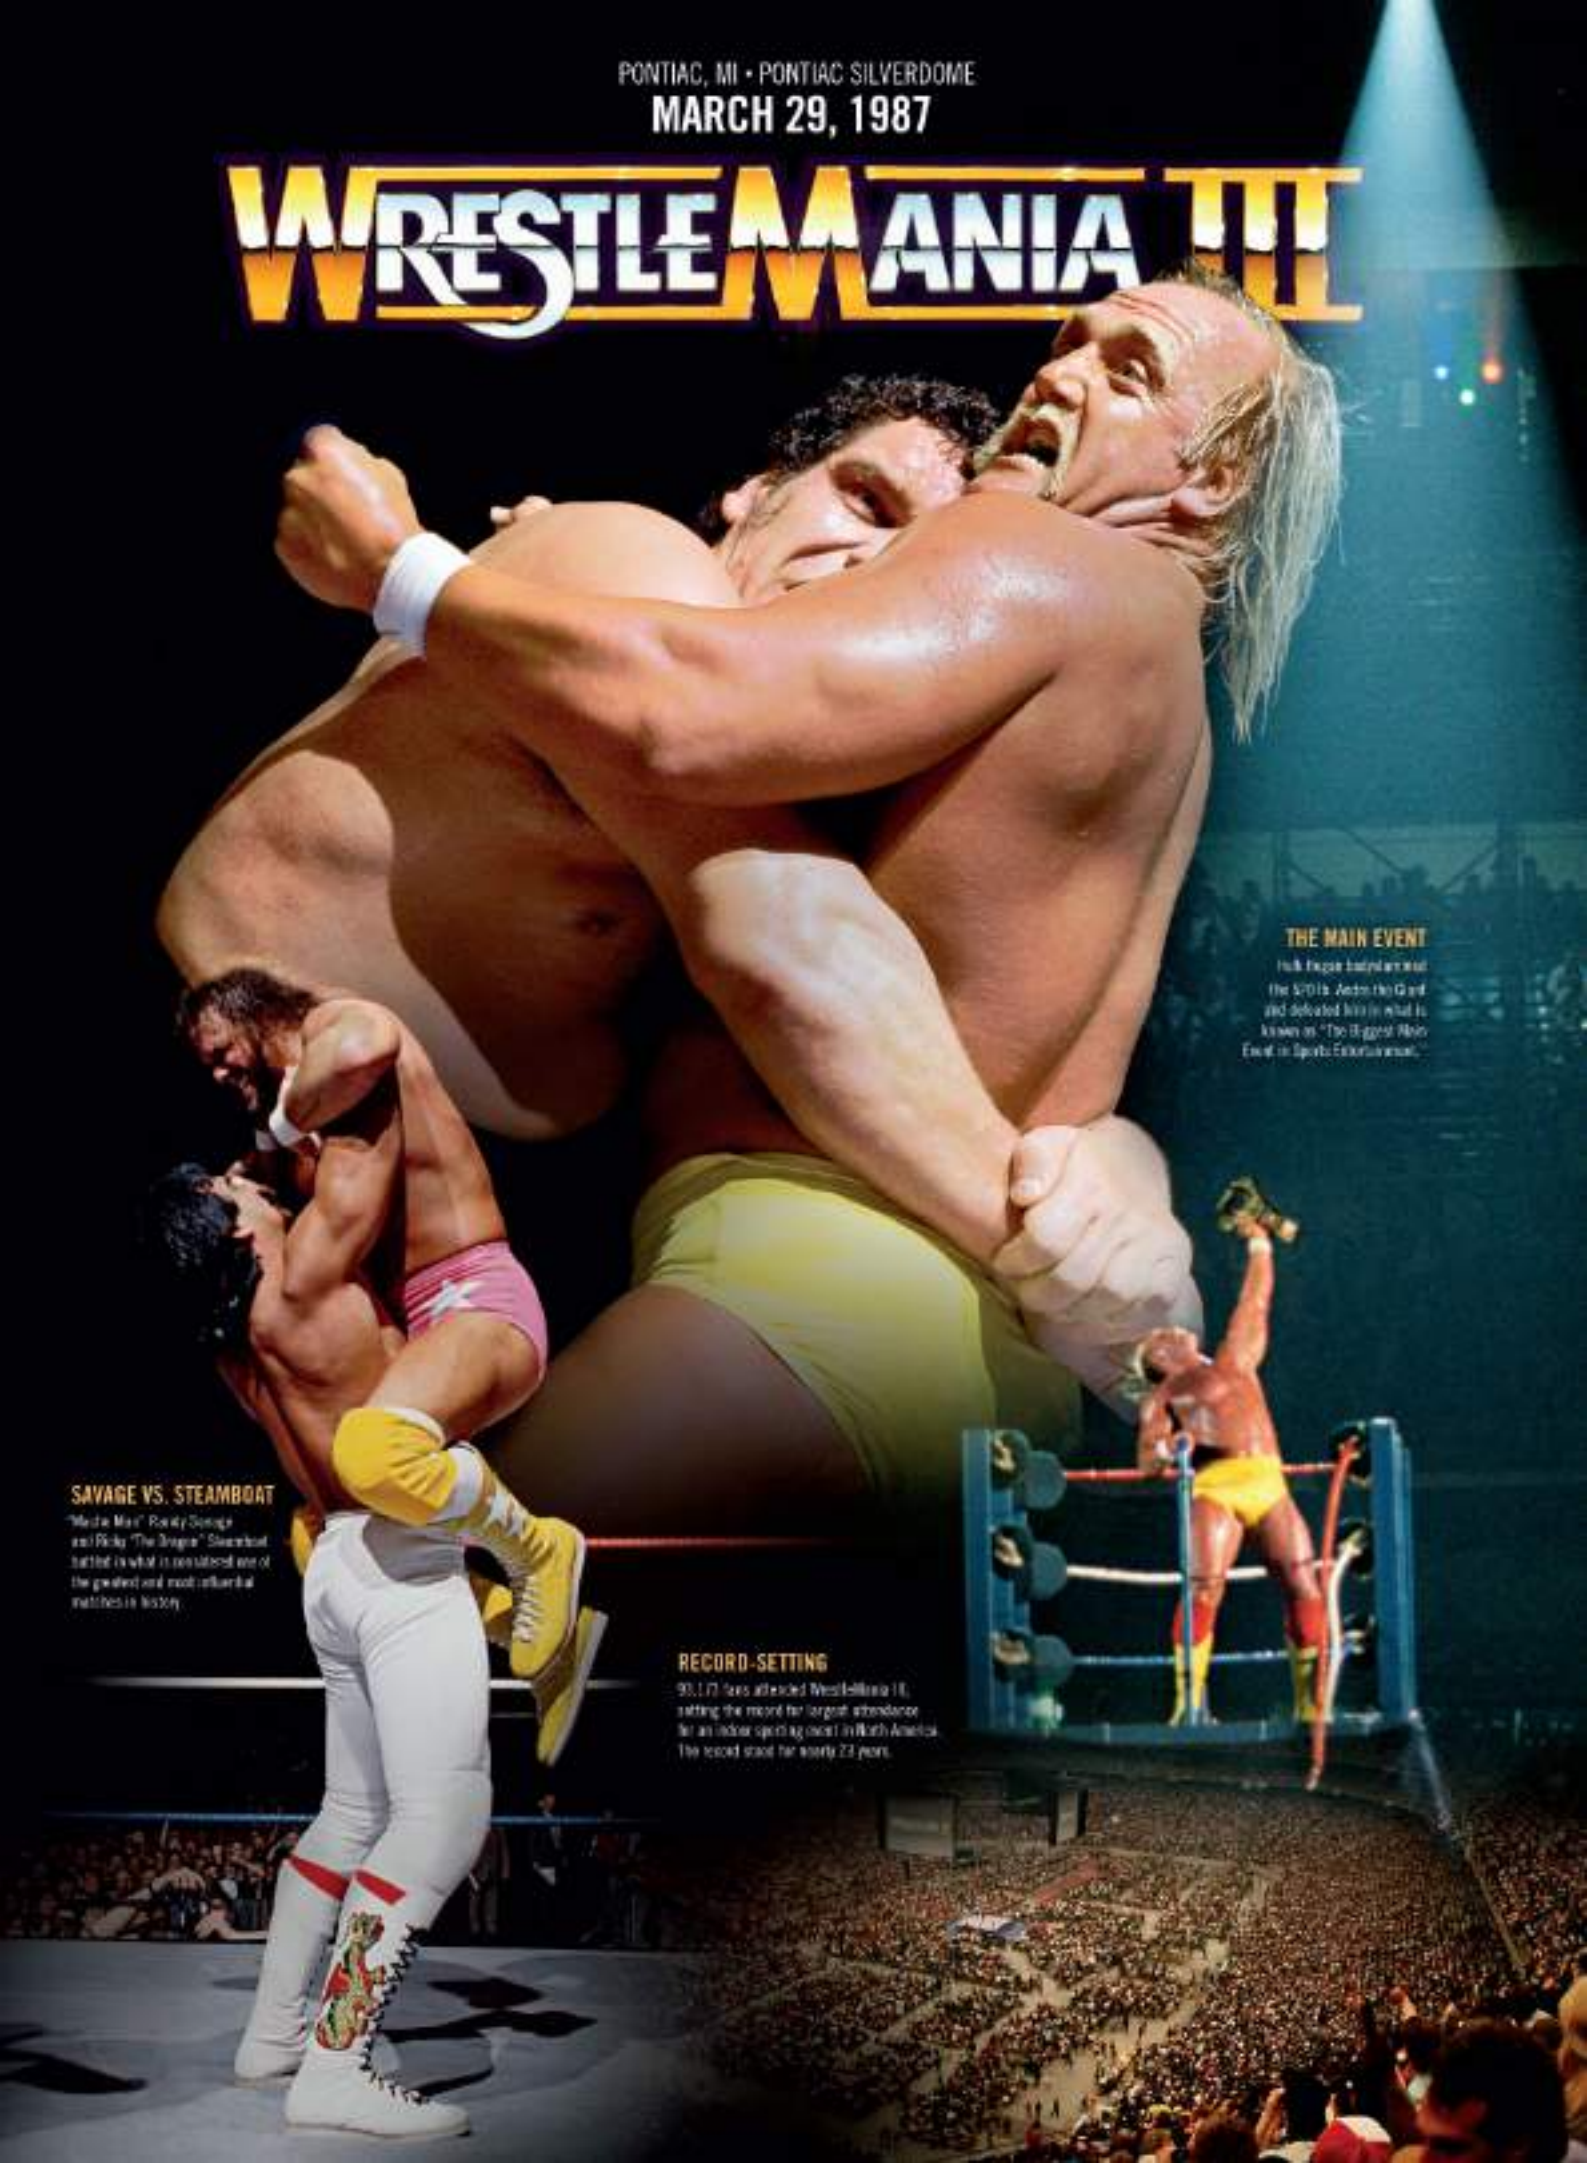

Hulk Hogan bested and beat the SPD in Andre the Giant and defeated him in what is known as "The Biggest Main Event in Sports Entertainment."

SAVAGE VS. STEAMBOAT

"Mad as a Hatter" Rowdy Roddy Piper and Ricky "The Dragon" Steamboat battled in what is considered one of the greatest and most influential matches in history.

RECORD-SETTING

93,177 fans attended WrestleMania III, setting the record for largest attendance for an indoor sporting event in North America. The record stood for nearly 23 years.

THE MEGA-POWERS EXPLODE

When heat turned into bitter rivalry, Hulk Hogan won his second WWE Championship by defeating "Macho Man" Randy Savage.

I ASKED YOU NICELY!

Martin Downey, Jr. made the mistake of annoying "Rowdy" Roddy Piper and found himself on the wrong side of a fire extinguisher, courtesy of the "Mr. Rowdy."

A SLITHER SURPRISE

Like "The Snake" Roberts scored a 100% victory over Andre the Giant, and then his snake, Dorian, chased the legendary behemoth from the ring.

FEAR THE SNAKE

Two of the most memorable Superstars in WWE collided when Jake "The Snake" Roberts battled "The Million Dollar Man" Ted Dibiase.

WRESTLEMANIA VI

THE ULTIMATE CHALLENGE

WWE's two biggest stars collided in a match that was the Ultimate Warrior's last. He fought to claim the WWE Championship.

THE BIRTHPLACE OF DREAMS

Held in Toronto, WrestleMania VI's crowd included two young men who would one day compete on The Grandest Stage of Them All as Edge & Christian.

PINK CADILLAC

Rhythm and Blues - Holly Hulk Hogan & Greg Valentine - didn't have a match, but they sure had an interesting entrance.

THE SUPERFLY

Featuring WWE Hall of Famer Jimmy "Superfly" Snuka's first WrestleMania match, Snuka teamed with "Rowdy" Roddy Piper.

WRESTLEMANIA IX

THE SHOWCASE GOES OUTSIDE

Billed as "The World's Largest Topa Party," WrestleMania IX was the first event of its kind to be held outside.

WRESTLEMANIA GIVETH...

The massive Yokozuna, winner of the 1993 Royal Rumble, defeated Bret "Hit Man" Hart to win the WWE Championship.

...AND WRESTLEMANIA TAKETH AWAY.

But his title reign would be extremely short-lived, as Hulk Hogan would just 21 seconds to defeat Yokozuna and leave with the WWE Championship.

D-GENERATION X

For the thousands in attendance and the millions watching at home, are you ready? No, I said, "ARE...YOU...READY?"

Triple H, Shawn Michaels, Chyna, X-Pac and The New Age Outlaws (Billy Gunn and Road Dogg) broke every rule WWE put in front of them, and they did it with attitude. Tired of being told what to do, D-Generation X pushed boundaries while spray painting their names onto the walls of pop culture and WWE history.

Road in their disdain for authority, Triple H and Shawn Michaels recruited the raw power of Chyna to create headaches and havoc for all comers in WWE. Pushing the limits of censorship, D-Generation X helped kick-start The Attitude Era during their formation in 1997.

After the main event of WrestleMania XIV, The Heartbreak Kid temporarily stepped away from in-ring action, leaving the group in the hands of Triple H and Chyna. Always ahead of the curve in recruiting talent, Triple H rebuilt the group into a new DX army. Drafting X-Pac, Billy Gunn, and Road Dogg as his generals, D-Generation X was more popular than ever before.

After millions of crotch chops, several imitations and one WCW tank invasion later, DX disbanded. Though they were a house divided, The New Age Outlaws became tag team legends, Chyna became the only woman in WWE history to hold the Intercontinental Championship, and X-Pac was a premiere European Champion.

In 2006, DX was reborn. Back to defy the power of Mr. McMahon, Triple H and Shawn Michaels reunited to cross the line once again. The tandem remains best friends to this day and still appear together, with their last match taking place at WWE Crown Jewel in 2018.

D-Generation X revolutionized the industry and did it their way. Now, through WWE Network, DX remains an influence on a new generation of degenerates. If you're not down with D-Generation X going into the 2019 WWE Hall of Fame, they have two words for you...S%*K It!

THE HART FOUNDATION

It's hard to capture lightning in a bottle, but when you combine the power and charisma of Jim "The Anvil" Neidhart with the technical ability of Bret "Hit Man" Hart, you get one of the most effective tag teams in all of sports entertainment.

Brought together by "The Mouth of the South" Jimmy Hart, The Hart Foundation kept the WWE Universe on the edge of their seats with their unique offense and amazing chemistry. Facing off in classics against The Rockers, The British Bulldogs, Demolition, and The Legion of Doom, the trainees of The Dungeon were the best kind of rivals.

By making their opponents look up at the lights with their Hart Attack tag team maneuver, Anvil and Hit Man's hard work paid off when they captured two WWE Tag Team Championships.

On camera and behind the scenes, the original Hart Foundation was a real family. They stuck by each other through thick and thin and remained great friends. Sadly, Jim "The Anvil" Neidhart passed away in 2018, but his legacy lives on through his daughter, WWE Superstar Natalya.

In the words of the Hit Man, The Hart Foundation are well deserving of this high honor because they are "the best there is, the best there was, and the best there ever will be."

CLASS OF 2019

THE HONKY TONK MAN

He's got long sideburns, and his hair is slicked back. He's coming to your town in a pink Cadillac. He's The Honky Tonk Man and he's cool, rocky and bad!

Shimmying his way to WWE in 1986, by way of Memphis, Tennessee, this guitar-wielding grappler knew how to shake, rattle and roll. Despite trying to entertain the masses, he was rejected by the WWE Universe and quickly became one of WWE's most despised Superstars.

Enlisting the managerial services of "The Mouth of the South" Jimmy Hart, Honky Tonk Man used every shortcut in the book to reach the top of WWE's charts. Upsetting Intercontinental Champion Ricky "The Dragon" Steamboat, Honky Tonk Man amassed an incredible 454-day title reign.

Once the gold was removed from his waist, the self-proclaimed "Greatest Intercontinental Champion of All Time" formed Rhythm & Blues with Greg "The Hammer" Valentine. The duo proved to be a smash hit in the ring and in the studio. They released their hit single "Hunka Hunka Honky Love" to critical acclaim.

The Honky Tonk Man is the epitome of a sports-entertainment showman. It is only fitting he gets to say "thank you very much" to his "beautiful audience" one more time as a WWE Hall of Fame recipient.

HARLEM HEAT

Bonded together by their love of sports entertainment, brothers Stevie Ray and Booker T brought something new to tag team competition during the '90s.

Beginning their careers in Global Wrestling Federation, Booker T and Stevie Ray brought out the best in each other as both rivals and a team during their early days. After winning tag team gold, while bringing down racial stereotypes, Harlem Heat moved on to WCW and quickly became the team to beat.

Sporting matching emblazoned singlets and an in-your-face attitude, Booker T and Stevie Ray stood out. Under the guidance of "Sensational" Sherri, Harlem Heat faced a who's who of tag team legends. They seized the WCW Tag Team Championships a total of ten times to become the most decorated team in the company's history.

After reaching the pinnacle as a pair, the team disbanded in 2000. Even though they never got the chance to compete in WWE together, their crowning achievements are still witnessed daily by subscribers of WWE Network.

With the 2019 induction ceremony taking place in the state of New York, it is only appropriate for Harlem Heat to take their place in the tag team wing of WWE's Hall of Fame.

BRUTUS "THE BARBER" BEEFCAKE

Cuttin' and struttin' his way to Superstardom during the '80s and '90s, Brutus "The Barber" Beefcake was as useful with a sleeper hold as he was with a pair of clippers.

Upon entering WWE, Beefcake linked up with Greg "The Hammer" Valentine and manager "Luscious" Johnny Valiant to form The Dream Team. Together, they won WWE Tag Team gold before Brutus found his calling as "The Barber."

Helping "Rowdy" Roddy Piper during his WrestleMania III encounter against Adrian Adonis, Beefcake cut the hair of "The Adorable One" to the cheers of over 93,000 people. In that moment, Beefcake garnered the adulation of the WWE Universe.

Beefcake rose up the ranks when he gave Mr. Perfect his first loss and found himself teaming with "The Immortal" Hulk Hogan as The Mega Maniacs at multiple pay-per-view events.

Moving on to WCW in 1994, Brutus went under several different aliases and iterations. Whether he was Brother Brunt, The Zodiac, The Rooty Man, The Butcher, or The Disciple, Beefcake was never afraid to evolve his character to entertain the masses.

Due to his longevity and ability to bring audiences to their feet, the host of "The Barber Shop" is a worthy addition to the 2019 WWE Hall of Fame Class.

TORRIE WILSON

Gifted with incredible athleticism, Torrie Wilson turned heads whenever she stepped inside a WWE ring. Never forgetting where she came from, the Boise, Idaho, native won over the WWE Universe using her small-town charm.

Discovered backstage at a WCW event in 1999, Torrie Wilson got her first taste of the spotlight as a valet. Once WCW ceased operations in 2001, the fitness model arrived in WWE during the WCW invasion. Wilson aligned herself with fellow Alliance member Stacy Kiebler and wreaked havoc on any Superstar who got in their way. Eventually, she changed allegiances and instantly became a fan favorite among the WWE faithful.

Embracing WWE as her home, the former Miss Galaxy's snick started to rise. A mainstay of the SmackDown brand, Torrie Wilson became the face of their women's division. Switching between competitor and manager, Wilson remained a valuable commodity until her departure in 2008.

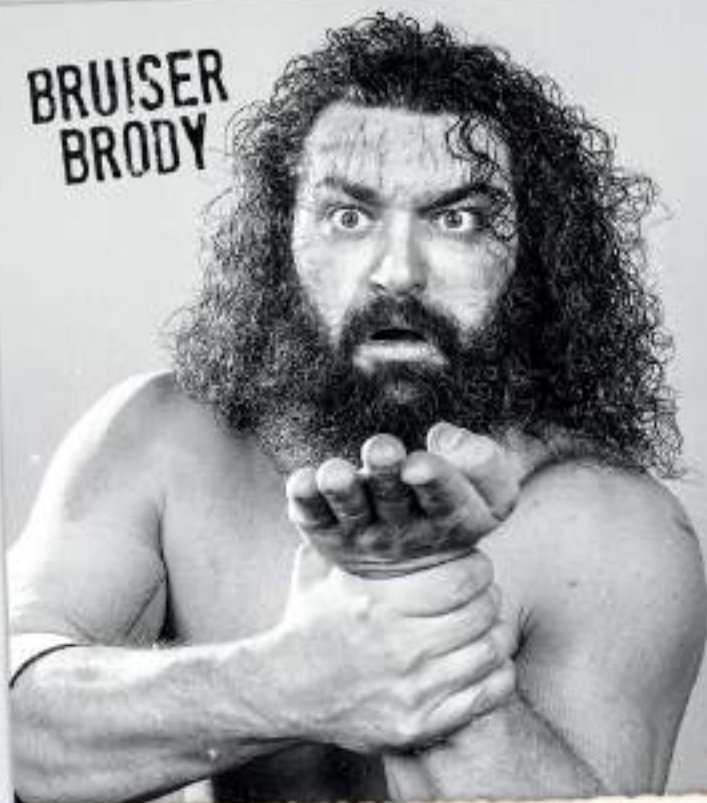

Though she makes occasional appearances on WWE programming, Torrie Wilson is now devoted to fitness and living a healthy lifestyle.

A determined Superstar who made a lasting impact for women in sports entertainment, Torrie Wilson is a welcome addition to WWE's Hall of Immortals.

THE WWE LEGACY AWARD

WWE recognizes and celebrates the trailblazers of the industry who are now etched in the canvas of sports-entertainment history.

BRUISER BRODY

Primo Carnera

JOSEPH COHEN

LUNA VACHON

JIM BARNETT
1924-2004

Filled with a personality more colorful than his three-piece suits, Jim Barnett was a beloved josh-of-all-trades. Responsible for creating the first-ever national wrestling TV show, Barnett was a key figure in the National Wrestling Alliance. In addition to successfully promoting shows for Australia's WCW, Georgia Championship Wrestling, and Jim Crockett Promotions, Jim Barnett was an ally to both WWE and WCW.

BRUISER BRODY

Known for raising hell in every promotion he stepped his foot-laced boots in, Bruiser Brody was a real scouter in the world of sports entertainment. Feared and respected by many across the United States and Japan, "King Kong" broiled against a who's-who of champions and legends. Despite leaving this world too soon, the legend of Bruiser Brody continues to live on.

Joe Cohen was instrumental in the creation of what we now know as the WWE Division. A multi-talented mogul—as well as a sports and entertainment visionary for over forty years, Mr. Cohen was the driving force behind the creation of the Madison Square Garden Network and the USA Network. Joe Cohen believed in the potential of WWE programming and helped build partnerships that launched sports entertainment programming into the mainstream.

One of the tallest heavyweights in the history of boxing, Primo Carnera towed over his challenges and dominated his division during his era. Forced to retire from prizefighting due to an ailment, "The Aukling Alp" transitioned to wrestling and became a huge box office attraction. Amassing an incredible 119 match win streak before winning the World Championship, Carnera was a hero to the Italian people.

1962-2010

Precious and wild like the rest of her famous family, Luna Vachon broke the mold. First appearing at the WWE Universe during The New Generation Era, Luna emerged a valuable asset to the careers of Raw, SmackDown and Global before making it up with a who's-who of Superstars across multiple companies. Always staying true to who she was, Luna garnered respect and admiration from fans and Superstars alike.

"PLAYBOY" BUDDY ROSE

"There is the sun, but light on the face," "Playboy" Buddy Rose holds the honor of competing in the first-ever match at WrestleMania. A top star in the Pacific Northwest, Rose was an incredible adversary for "Rowdy" Roddy Piper. Spending the remainder of his career body slapping the WWE Universe as the spokesperson for the "Blow Away Diet," Rose was one of the most reviled Superstars in the industry.

PROFESSOR TANAKA
1930-2000

A Japanese strongman known for showing salt into the eyes of his opponents, Tanaka struck fear into the hearts of grapplers and fans all over the globe. An athlete with a background in judo and martial arts, Tanaka used his impressive strength to achieve many victories. Often training with WWE Hall of Famer Mr. Fuji, Professor Tanaka captured three WWE Tag Team Championships.

WAHOO MCDANIEL
1938-2002

Knocking the competition off their feet in the ring and on the grillroom, Wahoo McDaniel was a special type of athlete. Representing the Quonset-Cookhouse Tribe, "The Chief" brought many opponents to their knees with his devastating Tomahawk Chop. A five-time NWA United States Champion, Wahoo headlined a multitude of events in WWE, AWA, Jim Crockett Promotions, and many southern territories.

1945-2008

A student of Johnny Rodd, "Special Delivery" Jones was an amazing fan favorite during the '70s and '80s. Never backing down from a challenge, the Amigao native clashed with WWE's most accomplished performers on the biggest stages. Through his winless record wasn't perfect, S.D. Jones is best remembered for his tag team with Tony Atlas and facing King Kong Bundy in the inaugural WrestleMania.

HISASHI SHINMA
1935-

Instrumental in expanding WWE's reach in Japan, WWE's acting president from 1978-1988 was a no-nonsense figure: no-nonsense and no nonsense behind it. A key figure in producing the American backlist/Mahaband All superstar and other stacked events, Hisashi Shinma played a pivotal role in bringing Superstars from The Land of the Rising Sun into the mainstream.

THE WARRIOR AWARD 2019

The Warrior Award goes to those in an individual who exhibits outstanding strength and perseverance, and lives life with the courage and compassion that embodies the indelible spirit of Ultimate Warrior.

SUE AITCHISON

A 30+ year employee of WWE, Sue Aitchison is a catalyst for the company's commitment to community. As a one-person show early on, Sue began her career by helping develop the culture of giving back that exists today.

Thanks to Sue's passion and commitment, WWE built a long-term partnership with Make-A-Wish, providing hope to children and families dealing with critical illnesses. Through Sue's efforts, WWE has granted the wishes of more than 6,000 children, and the partnership continues to be a source of pride for WWE Superstars, employees and fans.

Pioneering the WrestleMania Reading Challenge and SummerSlam Reading Jam, Sue inspired a love of reading in millions of children across the U.S. Her commitment to charitable work extends beyond WWE, with many outside partners recognizing Sue for her contributions.

A recipient of Make-A-Wish's Chris Grevious Award and Cauliflower Alley's Jesse Sanderson Humanitarian Award, Sue's compassion and dedication to putting smiles on faces exemplifies the essence of WWE and The Warrior Award.
